8. Which of these statements reflects a criticism of Virtue Ethics?
- It ignores the consequences of actions
 - It is too rigid and rule-based
 - It fails to explain why moral rules exist
 - It overemphasizes punishment
9. Which of the following best represents the aim of Virtue Ethics?
- To determine right actions based on utility
 - To follow divine commandments
 - To cultivate a moral character
 - To develop a social contract
10. Which philosopher is most closely associated with Natural Moral Law?
- Aristotle
 - Thomas Aquinas
 - Immanuel Kant
 - David Hume
11. What is the primary purpose of Natural Moral Law according to Aquinas?
- To maximize pleasure
 - To achieve salvation through faith alone
 - To discover moral rules through reason and human nature
 - To follow government laws
12. According to Natural Moral Law, what is the highest good for human beings?
- Wealth
 - Power
 - Union with God
 - Personal freedom
13. Which of the following is not one of the Primary Precepts of Natural Moral Law?
- Reproduction
 - Worship of God
 - Preservation of life
 - Promotion of wealth
14. How does Natural Moral Law view human nature?
- As corrupt and unreliable
 - As irrelevant to moral reasoning
 - As fundamentally good and ordered toward a purpose
 - As determined by emotions
15. Which of the following best describes the components of the Triple Font Theory of Morality?
- Situation, Emotion, and Judgment
 - Object, Intention, and Circumstance
 - Commandment, Virtue, and Grace
 - Law, Reason, and Will

16. In the Triple Font Theory, the 'object' refers to:
- The physical result of the act
 - The goal the person has in mind
 - The moral nature of the chosen act itself
 - The reason for evaluating an action
17. According to the Triple Font Theory, an act is morally good only if:
- All three fonts, object, intention and circumstance are good
 - The intention is good, even if the object is wrong
 - The object is good, regardless of intention or circumstance
 - It produces the greatest happiness for the greatest number
18. Which of the following would be an example of a bad moral object, even with good intentions and circumstances?
- Donating to charity to gain popularity
 - Lying to protect someone's feelings
 - Praying for a friend's health
 - Helping a person in need during a storm
19. What does the 'circumstance' in the Triple Font Theory evaluate?
- The emotional state of the person acting
 - The final goal or intention of the act
 - The external factors affecting the morality of the act
 - The legality of the action under civil law
20. The principle of double effect is used when:
- An action leads to two good consequences
 - An action has one intended effect and one unintended but foreseen bad effect
 - A person cannot decide between two good actions
 - A person wants to justify any harmful action
21. Which of the following is not one of the conditions for applying the principle of double effect?
- The act itself must be morally good or neutral
 - There must be a proportionate reason to allow the bad effect
 - The good effect must not be achieved by means of the bad effect
 - The bad effect must be intended directly
22. According to the principle of double effect, a harmful side effect can be tolerated only if:
- It benefits the person committing the act
 - It is the primary goal of the action
 - The good effect outweighs or is proportionate to the bad effect
 - It is required by law

23. Which of the following scenarios best illustrates the principle of double effect?
- a. A doctor lies to a patient to make them feel better
 - b. A firefighter risks his life to save someone
 - c. A person steals food to feed their family
 - d. A surgeon removes a cancerous uterus to save a mother's life, knowing it will cause the loss of the unborn child
24. In the principle of double effect, which of the following must never be true?
- a. The bad effect is foreseen
 - b. The good effect and bad effect happen simultaneously
 - c. The bad effect is the means to achieve the good effect
 - d. There is a difficult moral decision involved
25. What is moral freedom most accurately defined as?
- a. The ability to do whatever one wants without consequences
 - b. Freedom from all laws and responsibilities
 - c. The capacity to choose between good and evil based on reason and will
 - d. The right to express opinions publicly
26. Which of the following best reflects an abuse of moral freedom?
- a. Choosing not to cheat on a test despite the opportunity
 - b. Volunteering at a homeless shelter
 - c. Stealing because no one is watching
 - d. Standing up for someone being bullied
27. What role does conscience play in moral freedom?
- a. It limits moral freedom by enforcing rules
 - b. It forces people to obey external authorities
 - c. It guides the person to make responsible moral choices
 - d. It eliminates the need for freedom
28. Which statement is most true about the relationship between moral freedom and responsibility?
- a. Moral freedom excludes any form of responsibility
 - b. Moral freedom and responsibility are unrelated
 - c. With moral freedom comes the responsibility to choose the good
 - d. Responsibility only applies when freedom is limited
29. What is the primary function of moral conscience?
- a. To memorize religious laws
 - b. To help a person distinguish right from wrong in moral decisions
 - c. To justify personal desires
 - d. To obey authority without question
30. What is moral responsibility?
- a. The obligation to obey the law
 - b. The duty to follow one's instincts
 - c. Being accountable for one's freely chosen actions
 - d. The ability to avoid punishment

31. A person is considered morally responsible for an action when:
- They are unaware of what they are doing
 - They are forced to act against their will
 - They act freely and knowingly
 - They follow orders without question
32. Which of the following reduces a person's moral responsibility?
- Full knowledge and consent
 - Clear understanding of consequences
 - Coercion or ignorance
 - Desire to do good
33. Moral responsibility increases when:
- Actions are habitual and thoughtless
 - A person acts with full knowledge and deliberate consent
 - A person acts under peer pressure
 - The law requires a specific action
34. Which of the following best shows moral irresponsibility?
- Taking time to reflect before acting
 - Accepting consequences of one's actions
 - Blaming others for one's own choices
 - Apologizing for a mistake
35. What is "formal cooperation in evil"?
- Helping someone do something wrong unintentionally
 - Sharing in the evil intention of the wrongdoer
 - Doing good that accidentally helps someone sin
 - Refusing to participate in a sinful act
36. Which of the following is an example of material (but not formal) cooperation in evil?
- A nurse intentionally gives a lethal injection in an assisted suicide
 - A cashier sells cigarettes, unaware the customer has a health condition
 - A person encourages theft to help a friend
 - A politician supports abortion to win votes
37. Conscientious objection is best described as:
- Refusing to obey the law in general
 - Following your conscience even when it contradicts moral truth
 - Refusing to participate in an action that violates one's moral or religious beliefs
 - Agreeing with the majority to avoid conflict
38. A person may practice conscientious objection when:
- The law requires them to commit a morally evil act
 - They don't like the people enforcing the law
 - They disagree with the government's political views
 - They want to rebel against authority

39. Which of the following best describes the normative dimension of ethics?
- Prescribing moral action based on rational principles
 - Determining the historical roots of moral traditions
 - Describing moral actions as they occur in society
 - Examining the psychological motivations behind moral actions
40. Which of the following best exemplifies the self-referential nature of a voluntary act?
- When Miguna follows traffic rules, she avoids getting fined for speeding
 - When Miguna bump into someone, she apologizes out of social habit.
 - When Miguna takes notes during a lecture, it improves her exam scores.
 - When Miguna waits in line, she becomes a patient person.
41. Outline three weaknesses of human law as a guide to moral behaviour.
- The law can uphold immoral practices. i.e. Unjust / immoral laws e.g. Apartheid laws
 - The law can lag behind moral progress. i.e. Slavery was legal in the United States even though moral opposition to it existed long before it was abolished in 1865
 - The law is often influenced by politics and self-interest.
 - Laws can be shaped by political agendas, lobbying, and special interest groups, rather than by a sincere pursuit of moral justice.*
 - Laws rely on the integrity of those who enforce them. i.e. anti-corruption laws may be applied selectively to punish political opponents while protecting allies.*
 - Legal does not always mean ethical
 - There are many actions that are legal but still widely considered unethical or morally questionable / laws do not address all moral issues*
 - Strict adherence to the law can sometimes conflict with doing what is morally right.*
42. Explain four obstacles students face in practicing moral virtues
- Conventional thinking which allows for conformity and loyalty, or a herd mentality due to peer pressure
 - Insufficient role models
 - Ignorance of nature virtues. Most students are familiar with the names of virtues but have difficulty internalizing them. Virtue is not just about knowing; it has to do more with inculcating the good habits through repeated action, reflection, and self-examination.
 - Moral relativism which is as a result of exposure to environments where morality is seen as subjective or where ethical standards are questioned, can lead students to doubt the importance of virtues, making them less likely to practice them.
